heavy selling movement commenced shortly before the close and all of the part of the session stocks were in good demand and some substantial advances were recorded in most of the leading issues. The specialties were particularly active, with irregular price countries. In the early Exports from New York included: Oata, 76,940 bu.; flour, 4.263 bu.; bacons, 666,000 lbs.; pass, 270 bu.; beans, 34,941 bu.; hame, 398,400 lbs.; lubricating oil, active, with irregular price countries. active, with irregular price changes.

Burns Brothers Ice was an active feature and developed unusual weakness At one time it was more than 6 points off from Tuesday's closing level. There was no real cause for the decline, business in the issue being entirely professional. Carbon Steel was strong, selling 6 points higher.

The independent oil stocks were mod-The independent oil stocks were moderately active and reacted sharply after an early display of strength. Houston Oil, following a gain of 2 points, declined about one. The motors were quite active and irregular, although in the early trading a firm undertone was reported. War stocks were led by Aetna Explosives, which early sold with a fractional gain. Judge Mayer in the United States District Court allowed the receivers of District Court allowed the receivers

District Court allowed the receivers of the company to build a new plant at Oakdale. Pa. The factory will cost $500,000, and will be able to produce 2,000,000 pounds of TNT a month. The feature of the mining department was the weakness in Big Ledge Copper. The stock was forced down to 1, on rumors put out by the bears to the effect that the deal between Big Ledge and the Interstate Consolidated Callahan Mining Company was off. This was off. Mining Company was off. This was offi-cially denied. United Verde Extension was firm, gaining a point.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

WEAK AT CLOSING

WEAK AT CLOSING

Net gains from a fraction to two points were registered at the close of a fairly active market yesterday on the Consolidated Exchange. Final prices were below the day's high levels, due to realisting sales in the afternoon session. Trading interest was chiefly centred in the industrials. Steel shares, especially Steel common, which closed with a gain, were in good demand. Copper stocks were fractionally improved. The equipment stocks were very active and strong. Tobacco shares reacted from the high levels of the morning session. Tobacco chares reacted from the high levels of the morning session. Tobacco products gained 2 points. In the railroad group Reading was the feature, closing with a 2 point gain. Trading in Liberty Loan bonds was fairly active.

The announcement that three steamships with a carrying capacity of about 183,000 bags had been allotted for imports of coffee during July and August led to increased seiling in the market here yeaterday. As there are already over a million bags of coffee afloat for this country from Brazil the allotments of freight room were evidently regarded as relieving any immediate apprehension of scarcity. Selling was not particularly aggressive, however, and after showing losses of some 6 to 8 points prices railled on reports of an improved spot demand. The close was net 3 points lower to 1 point higher.

According to the official notice the three steamships allotted were the Flor-

three steamships allotted were the Flor-ida, Arkansas and Newa for coffee from Brazilian ports for New York clearances only, July-August at the rate of $1.70 a bag. All short shipments on previous allotments will be cared for on these vesallotments will be cared for on these ves-isels if applications are received. The space on the steamships will be allotted by the War Trade Board among import-ers of record for the calendar years 1918 and 1917. In the allocation of the space

The Trick of a Maine Guide.
Edwin C. Hill and Frand Ward O'Mailey, discussing yesterday that Maine trip, told of a trick that Harry Pierce played on the brook trout of Bear Bog Cove at Pierce's camps on King and Bartlett Lake, near Eustis, Me.
Both angiers, fishing the cove, cast their files, letting them fail naturally upon the water. The rises were few and far between, and as time progressed rises became infrequent.
Connecting the lake they fished with another lake in a surface of the communities is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it intend to get busy on filing out the list of the committee is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it at one and after that has been done serm of the committee is in pretty fair shap it will be an effort to get them together will be an effort to get them together will be an eff tween, and as time progressed rises became infrequent.

Connecting the lake they fished with another lake is a susul stream. Harry Pierce, wise in the ways of the trout, figured that the square tails were in the small connecting stream enjoying a minnow repast or lying still awaiting food to float in their pathway.

The guide circled the stream, gathering up a handful of brush on the way, and at a considerable distance from the anglers switched the brush through the water. Both Hill and O'Mailey could see the trout rushing to the cove, but, strange to say, the switching of the brush, while it may have siarmed the fish temporarily, did not deter them from rising to the fly instantly. They took the fly frequently after that just as previously they leaped for it infrequently.

Seaford, L. I., June 12.

The guide circled the stream, gathering up a handful of brush on the way, and at a considerable distance from the anglers witched the brush through the water. Both Hill and O'Malley could see the trout rushing to the cove, but, strange to say, the switching of the brush, while it may have alarmed the fish temporarily, did not deter them from rising to the fly instantly. They took the fly frequently after that just as previously they leaped for it infrequently.

Big Weakfish in Big Fol.

Weakfish anglers who arrived at Fred Boegel's hotel at Canarsie yesterday morning Just previous to the high tide looked in ong and earnestly at the threatening weather and finally decided not to go weakfishing.

Three guides. Henry Revinus. Emil Grounier and Charles Johnson, decided that regardles of weather, they would fish.
